

Contents

Introduction	7
1. Media Violence Causes Aggression in Children Gina Simmons	11
2. Media Violence Does Not Cause Aggressive Behavior in Children Jonathan L. Freedman	15
3. Viewers' Responses to Violent Media Are Complex and Varied David Trend	28
4. Movies Don't Facilitate Violence—Gun Laws Do James Rocchi	34
5. Violent Video Games Might Be to Blame for Violent Behavior Mark and Keisha Hoerrner	39
6. Violent Video Games Are Not to Blame for Violent Behavior Daniel Koffler	47
7. Violent Video Games Are Harmful to Young People William Sears	52
8. Condemnations of Media Violence Are Often Simplistic and Misguided Henry Jenkins	58
9. Violent Media Do Not Teach a Christian Worldview Kerby Anderson	69

10. Media Violence Makes Torture Acceptable to Viewers A.S. Hamrah	77
11. The FCC Should Regulate Violence on Television Christian Science Monitor	81
12. The FCC Should Not Regulate Violence on Television Nick Gillespie	84
13. Researchers Have Not Proven That Media Violence Merits Policy Changes Edward Castronova	88
Organizations to Contact	96
Bibliography	100
Index	107