sources; while no complete check has been attempted, a cursory survey reveals these borrowings: first volume contains two articles from "The Gem," London, 1829; three from "The Keepsake," London, 1846; one from the "Forget Me Not," London, 1827; one from "The Keepsake," London 1831; one from "Winter's Wreath," London, 1831. "The Amaranth" 1848 contains six titles from "The Keepsake," London, 1837; seven from that dated 1847. Sometimes signatures of borrowed articles were changed: "The Rebel of the Cevennes," for example, appeared in "The Amaranth" 1850 as by "S.G.G.," while in "The Token" 1839, where it was earlier printed, it was signed "By the Author of Miriam"--i.e., Mrs. Louisa J.P. Hall. Finally, as Faxon points out, "The Amaranth" 1851 is a complete and unacknowledged reprint of a collection of the miscellanies of John Milton Sterns--"The Wreath of Wild Flowers," New York, 1846. ### Finn, Henry J., (ed.).

American Comic Annual.

Boston, Mass: Richardson, Lord & Holbrook. 1831 (AAS, CU) Illustrated by D.C. Johnston. William J. Snelling, in "Truth, a gift for Scriblers," Boston, 1832, p. 52 n., remarks: "Of all the failures of the American press, none are so lamentable as the Comic Annual--unless, indeed, the official communications of the late cabinet be adduced. ...The public has a second number of the Comic Annual to endure; no slight infliction, judging from the last. Two dollars per page have been offered to writers." Apparently the second number never materialized. (AAS, LC, NYPL) "Occasional and periodical" in title of 1836 only. Preface to 1850 explains that H.T. Tuckerman edited 1836, George S. Hillard 1841. Editor of 1850 not named. Series probably largely eclectic; 1850 alone claims previously unpublished contributions. Longfellow's "Truth," in 1836 and his "Resignation," in 1850, are first printings, however (see Luther S. Livingston, "A Bibliography of the First Editions... of Longfellow," New York, 1908). O.W. Holmes's "The Steamboat" and "Departed Days," in 1841, and his "Morning Visit," in 1850, are also first appearances (see George B. Ives, "A Bibliography of... Holmes," Boston and New York, 1907). Pieces signed by Emerson, Hawthorne, and Lowell had previously appeared elsewhere. Copyright: 1849; Printer: Torrey Thurston and Co.; Contents: The Old Latin School House/George S. Forget Me Not, a New Years Gift.
Philadelphia: Judah Dobson. 1828

(NYPL) Introduction admits that this is a compilation. Only one piece, "The Cat," signed T.H.S., is marked "original" in the text. "Ellen," signed Washington Irving, is noted in W.R. Langfeld's bibliography of Irving (New York, 1933, p. 56), but it would be strange indeed if Irving made a special contribution. Bryant's "Is This a Time To Be Cloudy and Sad" had appeared in "The United States Review and Literary Gazette," II, 217-18 (June 1827). Contents: Introduction/8; The Wanderer's Dream/Maturin/10; Introduction to an Album/12; The Moss Rose/13; Dragon Plant/14; To_____ "with the Flower 'forget-me-not'"/15; Annette Laranne/Author of Tales for "Leisure Hours"/17; Remember Me/22; Virginius, After the Death of His Daughter/J.B.P./25; Is This a Time to Be Cloudy and Sad/Bryant/26; Vanderdecken's Message Home--a German Legend/27; Wedded Love--a Fragment/40; Woman/Sherlock/41; The Last Tree of the Forest/New Monthly Magazine/43; The Poet's Song/European Magazine/45; Song--"Amid the West," &c./46; Anne Boleyn--from the French/46; Indian Sagacity/Travels in North America/47; On the Privileges of the Female Sex/Buckminster/50; Kindred Hearts/Mrs. Hemans/52; The Sisters/Literary Gazeteer/54; Song/L.E.L./55; On French Oaths/Maria Edgeworth/56; Professor of Signs/62; The Hour of Eve/J.B.P./65; The Rivals/John Ford/66; Night/Shelley/68; The Blind Boy/69; Invocation to Rain/84; The Maniac/Merry/85; Song--"The Sun Is Careering, &c."/Blackwood's/86; Impartiality/Burke/86; The Living and the Dead/Percival/87; Miles Colvine/89; Lorenzo Citti--a Venetian Tale/J.B.P./99; Oliver Cromwell/103; An Adventure/105; Upon Emmeline's Miniature/D.P.B./108; The Hunting Alderman/109; Slumbers of a Beautiful Woman/New Monthly Magazine/117; Washington/New Monthly Magazine/118; Fire at Sea/121; Milton/125; Secret Love/126; Washington's Tomb/127; Rise and Fall of Nations/129; Blunders/130; John Brown, or the House in the Muir/131; Female Beauty and Ornaments/146; Mrs. Wolstonecroft and Miss Blood/148; To the Ivy/Mrs. Hemans/149; Fame/Joanna Baillie/151; Jan Schalken's Three Wishes/152; The Water Lady,--a Legend/158; Stanzas to a Beauty/166; Quebec/167; Imitation of Servian Poetry/168; Josephine, the German Emigrant/A Lady of Philadelphia/169; Sir G. ## American Literary Annuals and Gift Books, 1825-1865 Reel Listing

(AAS, CU, LC) Faxon lists editions of 1843 with imprints Philadelphia, E.H. Butler & co. [c1842], Philadelphia, Z. Pratt, 1843; also one on large paper - 4 3/4 x 7 1/4. He notes further an edition of 1845 with imprint of Butler & Williams (of Philadelphia?). 1843 and 1844 are probably largely eclectic, and are illustrated with plates from the similarly-named annual for 1841 and 1842. J.R. Lowell's "Serenade," in 1843, had appeared in his "A Year's Life" (1841). Charles Lamb's essay, "The Superannuated Man," is printed without signature in 1844. With 1845, a new spirit appears. Title is somewhat altered, and preface intimates that a new editor is in charge. Sartain's engravings become the staple of the illustration. Reynell Coates may have been the editor, for his articles alone may be immediately attributed to an American. In 1846, Henry B. Hirst signs some articles. In 1847 is work by Coates, Hirst, and T.B. Read. In 1849, "The Author of 'The Sketch Book'" signs a tale called "The Haunted Ship" --but no such story is in Irving's collected works (see "American Literature," VI, 443-5 [January 1935]). Throughout the series selected material predominates. 1852 has two articles from "The Token" 1829, one from "The Token" 1830. 1855 contains three essays by William Godwin Jr. from "The English Annual," London, 1835; "The Dream" is from "The Keepsake," London, 1832; "Orsina Brandini" from the same annual for 1836. It is improbable that this series contains original American writing of consequence. Copyright: 1842; Printer: C. Sherman; Contents: The Ruins of Herod's Palace/Mrs. L.H. Reynell Coates may have been the editor, for his articles alone may be immediately attributed to an American. In 1846, Henry B. Hirst signs some articles. In 1847 is work by Coates, Hirst, and T.B. Read. In 1849, "The Author of 'The Sketch Book'" signs a tale called "The Haunted Ship" --but no such story is in Irving's collected works (see "American Literature," VI, 443-5 [January 1935]). Throughout the series selected material predominates. 1852 has two articles from "The Token" 1829, one from "The Token" 1830. 1855 contains three essays by William Godwin Jr. from "The English Annual," London, 1835; "The Dream" is from "The Keepsake," London, 1832; "Orsina Brandini" from the same annual for 1836. It is improbable that this series contains original American writing of consequence.

(BPL, CU, LC) Apparently no issues for 1847 or between those dated 1854 and [c1856]. Faxon errs in listing 1854 as a reissue of 1853, altho copies of 1853 were republished with dates crudely altered to 1854 (NYPL). 1848 reappeared as "The Gallery of mezzotints, an annual for 1849," New York, M.H. Newman & co., 1849 (BPL, HCL). 1849 reappeared as "The Gallery of mezzotints, an annual for 1850," New York, M.H. Newman & co., 1850 (NYPL). 1850 reappeared as "The Ladies' souvenir," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (HCL, UWIS); "The Thought blossom, a memento," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (PML); same title: New York, Leavitt & Allen, 1854 (UPA); New York, Leavitt & Allen, 1855 (LC); "The Winter wreath," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (HCL). That main entry marked "[n.d.]" --which begins with article entitled The New Year --reappeared as "Leaflets of Memory," New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (AAS, NYPL). 1849 edited by Stephen N. Chester, according to "The Literary World," III, 796 (November 4, 1848). 1846 is largely eclectic; 1848 probably partly original, altho it can boast only of such writers as S.D. Burchard and George B. Cheever, who are better known for clerical activities. 1849 contains articles by L.M. Child, Fanny Forrester, John Inman, Miss Sedgwick, Mrs. Sigourney, and others. Much of 1850 can be traced to earlier publications: Bryant's "An Evening Reverie" is from "The Knickerbocker" for January 1841; Fitz-Greene Halleck's "The Blue Stocking" from "Alnwick Castle" (1827); Willis's "Born to Love Pigs and Chickens" from his "Dashes of Life with a Free Pencil" (1845). 1851 consists mainly of borrowings from British authors, altho the names of E.F. Ellet, C.M. Kirkland, Miss Sedgwick, and W.G. Simms may be found. 1852 is largely unsigned and is probably wholly eclectic. The remainder of the series seems to follow the same pattern. Mention may be made of work by F.S. Osgood in 1853 and of that by Phoebe Cary and G.W.P. Curtis in issue marked "[n.d.]." Of the illustrations, Sartain holds the palm. 1849 contains three plates of Mexican war scenes and nine of American landscape, including views of New York City and a genre picture of a sort rarely met: T.H. Matheson's "Sugaring Off." H.S. Sadd, an imitator of Sartain, is prominent in 1850, which contains a picture of Cooper's famous Harvey Birch and one of General Israel Putnam. The plates in 1852 are signed by E. Finden, and were probably made in London. Washington's headquarters at Tappan, a ball at the Tuileries, and the races at Chantilly are depicted in 1853. Sir Thomas Lawrence's "Benjamin West," engraved by A.L. Dick, may be found in 1854. With Twenty Plates by Sartain; Copyright: 1845; Printer: John F. Trow; Contents: Milton/Mason's Ode to Memory/1; Christmas/Mrs. Crawford/2; Trial of Queen Katharine/Shakespeare/3; Old Friends/Mrs. Crawford/6; Hector and Andromache/7; Cleopatra/Miss Georgiana Munro/11; Be Kind to Each Other/Charles Swain/12; Girl and Flowers/13; Hope and Heaven/Rev. Mention may be made of work by F.S. Osgood in 1853 and of that by Phoebe Cary and G.W.P. Curtis in issue marked "[n.d.]". Of the illustrations, Sartain holds the palm. 1849 contains three plates of Mexican war scenes and nine of American landscape, including views of New York City and a genre picture of a sort rarely met: T.H. Matheson's "Sugaring Off." H.S. Sadd, an imitator of Sartain, is prominent in 1850, which contains a picture of Cooper's famous Harvey Birch and one of General Israel Putnam. The plates in 1852 are signed by E. Finden, and were probably made in London. Washington's headquarters at Tappan, a ball at the Tuileries, and the races at Chantilly are depicted in 1853. Sir Thomas Lawrence's "Benjamin West," engraved by A.L. Dick, may be found in 1854. Copyright: 1849; Printer: John F. Trow; Contents: Presentation Letter/N. Parker Willis/3; The Last Appeal/N. The Gem of the Season.
New York, N.Y.: Leavitt & Allen. [n.d.]

(AAS, NYPL) Apparently no issues for 1847 or between those dated 1854 and [c1856]. Faxon errs in listing 1854 as a reissue of 1853, altho copies of 1853 were republished with dates crudely altered to 1854 (NYPL). 1848 reappeared as "The Gallery of mezzotints, an annual for 1849," New York, M.H. Newman & co., 1849 (BPL, HCL). 1849 reappeared as "The Gallery of mezzotints, an annual for 1850," New York, M.H. Newman & co., 1850 (NYPL). 1850 reappeared as "The Ladies' souvenir," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (HCL, UWIS); "The Thought blossom, a memento," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (PML); same title: New York, Leavitt & Allen, 1854 (UPA); New York, Leavitt & Allen, 1855 (LC); "The Winter wreath," ed. by N.P. Willis, New York, Leavitt & Allen [c1853] (HCL). That main entry marked "[n.d.]" --which begins with article entitled "The New Year" --reappeared as "Leaflets of Memory," New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (AAS, NYPL). 1849 edited by Stephen N. Chester, according to "The Literary World," III, 796 (November 4, 1848). 1846 is largely eclectic; 1848 probably partly original, altho it can boast only of such writers as S.D. Burchard and George B. Cheever, who are better known for clerical activities. 1849 contains articles by L.M. Child, Fanny Forrester, John Inman, Miss Sedgwick, Mrs. Sigourney, and others. Much of 1850 can be traced to earlier publications: Bryant's "An Evening Reverie" is from "The Knickerbocker" for January 1841; Fitz-Greene Halleck's "The Blue Stocking" from "Alnwick Castle" (1827); Willis's "Born to Love Pigs and Chickens" from his "Dashes of Life with a Free Pencil" (1845). 1851 consists mainly of borrowings from British authors, altho the names of E.F. Ellet, C.M. Kirkland, Miss Sedgwick, and W.G. Simms may be found. 1852 is largely unsigned and is probably wholly eclectic. The remainder of the series seems to follow the same pattern. Mention may be made of work by F.S. Osgood in 1853 and of that by Phoebe Cary and G.W.P. Curtis in issue marked "[n.d.]". Of the illustrations, Sartain holds the palm. 1849 contains three plates of Mexican war scenes and nine of American landscape, including views of New York City and a genre picture of a sort rarely met: T.H. Matheson's "Sugaring Off." H.S. Sadd, an imitator of Sartain, is prominent in 1850, which contains a picture of Cooper's famous Harvey Birch and one of General Israel Putnam. The plates in 1852 are signed by E. Finden, and were probably made in London. Washington's headquarters at Tappan, a ball at the Tuileries, and the races at Chantilly are depicted in 1853. Sir Thomas Lawrence's "Benjamin West," engraved by A.L. Dick, may be found in 1854. With Ten Fine Illustrations; Contents: The New Year/Editor/9; Morning Prayer/F. Janeway/14; Ellen and Ada/Virginia F. Townsend/16; To Hope/John Keats/46; Contentment/Wordsworth/48; The Emperor's Daughter/Gesta Romanorum/49; The Life of a Looking-Glass/Mirre/52; Confessions of Zephyrus/Margaret Junkin/65; Storm on the Black Sea/Prof. Alex Kocsis/70; The Parting/E.M. Gifts of Genius, a Miscellany of Prose and Poetry by American Authors.
New York, New York: C.A. Davenport. [c1859]
(AAS, NYHS) Contains contributions by Bryant, Holmes, Longfellow, and Lowell -- all which have been recorded by bibliographers -- and by T.B.
Aldrich, John Esten Cooke, George W. Curtis, Evert
A. Duyckinck, Julia Ward Howe, George P. Marsh, G.P. Morris, Theodore Parker, T.B. Read, and others.
Origin of the volume is explained by "The Bookseller's Medium," II 170 (December 15, 1859) as follows: Miss C.A. Davenport, at one time a drawing teacher, became blind, and was forced to peddle sermons on New York streets. She asked American writers for unpublished specimens of their work; friends donated money for paper, presswork, and binding -- and "Gifts of Genius" was the result.
Miss Davenport held the copyright, and hoped to find in it support for the remainder of her life. E.A.
Duyckinck apparently was editor; most of the MSS.
printed are now among his papers in NYPL.

(CU, UPA) Reissued by Riker with imprint date 1843 (AAS), 1846 (FAX), 1847 (UPA), 1848 (FAX). Also New York, Derby & Jackson, 1858 (CU); Philadelphia, Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger, 1868 (BU). Reissue called the "Floral Souvenir, with a Complete Floral Dictionary ... Chambersburg, Pa. [1842]" is noted in "The Stephen H. Wakeman Collection of Books of Nineteenth Century American Writers," New York [1924] item 25. Preface claims original verse by W.C. Bryant, E.C. Embury, C.F. Hoffman, and others, as well as selected material. If volume was published in 1841, as copyright date would indicate, it may contain first printings of Hoffman's "To an Autumn Rose" and "Language of Flowers" (see Homer F. Barnes, "Charles Fenno Hoffman," New York, 1930, p. 138). Bryant's "Death of the Flowers" had appeared in his "Poems" (1832). His "The Painted Cup" is said to have been written only in 1842 (see H.C. Sturges's chronology, p. lxxii, in "The Poetical Works of ... Bryant," New York, 1907), so this may be its original appearance. O.W. Holmes's "Lines to a Belle" is from his "Poems" (1836). The Memorial, Written by the Friends of the Late Mrs. Osgood.
New York, New York: George P. Putnam. 1851

(AAS, HCL, NYPL) Reissued as "Laurel Leaves, a chaplet woven by the friends of the late Mrs. Osgood," ed. by Mary E. Hewitt, New York, Lamport, Blakeman & Law, 1854. (LC). Altho Mrs. Hewitt is named editor, R.W. Griswold had a hand in the work. See "Passages from the Correspondence ... of Rufus W. Griswold," Cambridge, Mass., 1898, p. 264-6, 268-9. According to preface, profits of this gift book were to be used to build a monument to F.S. Osgood in Mt. Auburn cemetery. The reissue was necessary as the new advertisement explains, because original edition failed to raise a sufficient sum. Contains contributions by G.H. Boker, J.T. Fields, Griswold, Nathaniel Hawthorne, G.P.R. James, Anne C. Lynch, John Neal, L.H. Sigourney, W.G. Simms, E. Oakes Smith, R.H. Stoddard, Bayard Taylor, Sarah H. Whitman, N.P. Willis, and others. Hawthorne's contribution is "The Snow-Image." Concerning this he wrote to J.T. Fields (MS. letter dated August 23, 1850, CU) as follows: "Griswold has written to me about an article for a souvenir which he is going to edit, for the purpose of erecting a monument to Mrs. Osgood. If you are going to New York, perhaps you will take charge of the accompanying packet for him. It is a story which I happened to have by me, intended for another purpose. He offers to pay for it, and as I did not know Mrs. Osgood, there does not seem to be much reason why I should decline payment." Copyright: 1850; Contents: Inscription/John Neal/3; Proem/Mary E. The North Star, the Poetry of Freedom by Her Friends.
Philadelphia, Pa: Merrihew & Thompson. 1840 (AAS, LC) Anti-slavery prose and verse. Issued as an adjunct to bazaar held in December 1839 under auspices of the Female Anti-Slavery Society of Philadelphia. Contributions from John Quincy Adams, J.T. Fields, Lucy Hooper, Elizabeth H. Whittier, J. G. Whittier, and others, as well as eight anonymous poems. Among the latter is probably at least one by Maria Weston Chapman, sent in response to a solicitation of Benjamin S. Jones, who acted in an editorial capacity (see Jones's MS. letter to Mrs. Chapman, October 11, 1839, BPL). Whittier was chief editor; he, according to Jones, had charge of "the getting up of the volume." (MS. letter, Jones to Mrs. Chapman, October 21, 1839, BPL). Contents: To the Morning Star/John Quincy Adams/9; The Sunny South/Elizur Wright, Jr./10; The Social Feelings/J. Blanchard/14; Lines/Mary S. Nelson/18; A True Patriot/James T. Fields/24; Death on the Pale Horse/James Kennard/27; The Prayer of a Lonely Heart/Frances Ann Butler/31; Lines/Lucy Hooper/33; The Dying Revolutionary Soldier/Hannah F. The Odd-Fellows' Offering for 1843.
New York, N.Y./Philadelphia, Pa./Richmond, Va./Boston, Mass./Buffalo, N.Y./Canada: Samuel A.
House & Company/John Perry/James M. Ford/Odd-Fellow/Faxon & Read. [c1842] (LC, NYPL) 1844 reissued as "The Philopoena, a perennial gift," ed. by Paschal Donaldson, New York, E. Sands [c1844] (AAS, CU, LC) (Faxon notes copies marked 1845, 1851, 1852, or 1854 on binding); "The Philopoena, or friendship's offering, a gift for all seasons," ed. by a lady, New York, John Levinson [n.d.] (NYPL) (Faxon notes copies marked 1851, 1852, or 1854 on binding). 1845 reissued as "The Juvenile Odd-fellow," chiefly contributed by members of the order, New York, Edward Walker, 1848 (BU, YU). 1853 reissued as "The Odd-fellows' perpetual offering, comprising gems of American literature," New York, Edward Walker [n.d.] (LC).
Early volumes claim previously unpublished prose and verse, but contributors are of no literary note, excepting perhaps, B.J. Lossing and Mrs. C.M.
Sawyer. With 1847 claim of originality is dropped.
1848 and subsequent issues contain work by Lewis

The Religious Souvenir, a Christmas, New Year's and Birth Day Present for 1833.
Philadelphia, Pa: Key, Mielke & Biddle. [c1832]

(AAS, CU, LC) Preface to 1839 explains that there was no issue for 1838. 1839 reissued as "The Christmas keepsake, a Christmas and New Year's gift," New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (CU); "The Religious keepsake, for holiday presents," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1846 (CU, LC); same title: Hartford, S. Andrus & son [n.d.] (AAS, NYPL); "The Religious souvenir for 1839, republished for 1845," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1845 (AAS, BPL, LC). 1840 reappeared as "The Religious souvenir for 1840, republished for 1845," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1845 (AAS, BPL, CU); "The Religious souvenir for Christmas and New Year presents," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1846 (LC); same title: Hartford, S. Andrus & son [n.d.] (BPL, LC); New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (HCL, LC). Faxon notes issue of this last title dated 1847. In all the foregoing Mrs. Sigourney is given as editor. Most of the contributions to 1833, 1834, and 1835 are signed in initials. They are probably original, and seem to be by N.C. Brooks, W.G. Clark, H.F. Gould, L.H. Sigourney, Charles West Thomson, and others. Under Dr. Colton's editorship the list of contributors includes F.A.P. Barnard, Park Benjamin, Manton Eastburn, E.F. Ellet, W.B. Tappan, B.B. Thatcher, and H.T. Tuckerman. Mrs. Sigourney obtained work from Bernard Barton, S.J. Hale, Anne C. Lynch, R. Shelton Mackenzie, Amelia Opie, C.M. Sedgwick, Harriet Beecher Stowe -- even from her Hartford patron Daniel Wadsworth and her protégé Demetrius Stamatiades. Cf. G.S. Haight, "Mrs. Sigourney," New Haven, 1930, p. 39-40. Illustration was apparently made to order. Among the engravers are M.I. Danforth, G.B. Ellis, Alexander and Oscar Lawson, J.B. Longacre, J.B. Neagle, James Smilie, and W.E. Tucker. Some designs were especially commissioned (see Haight, op.cit., p. 39); artists include J.G. Chapman, C.R. Leslie, S.F.B. Morse, and W.S. Mount. (AAS, CU, LC) Preface to 1839 explains that there was no issue for 1838. 1839 reissued as "The Christmas keepsake, a Christmas and New Year's gift," New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (CU); "The Religious keepsake, for holiday presents," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1846 (CU, LC); same title: Hartford, S. Andrus & son [n.d.] (AAS, NYPL); "The Religious souvenir for 1839, republished for 1845," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1845 (AAS, BPL, LC). 1840 reappeared as "The Religious souvenir for 1840, republished for 1845," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1845 (AAS, BPL, CU); "The Religious souvenir for Christmas and New Year presents," Hartford, S. Andrus & son, 1846 (LC); same title: Hartford, S. Andrus & son [n.d.] (BPL, LC); New York, Leavitt & Allen [n.d.] (HCL, LC). Faxon notes issue of this last title dated 1847. In all the foregoing Mrs. Sigourney is given as editor. Most of the contributions to 1833, 1834, and 1835 are signed in initials. They are probably original, and seem to be by N.C. Brooks, W.G. Clark, H.F. Gould, L.H. Sigourney, Charles West Thomson, and others. Under Dr. Colton's editorship the list of contributors includes F.A.P. Barnard, Park Benjamin, Manton Eastburn, E.F. Ellet, W.B. Tappan, B.B. Thatcher, and H.T. Tuckerman. Mrs. Sigourney obtained work from Bernard Barton, S.J. Hale, Anne C. Lynch, R. Shelton Mackenzie, Amelia Opie, C.M. Sedgwick, Harriet Beecher Stowe -- even from her Hartford patron Daniel Wadsworth and her protégé Demetrius Stamatiades. Cf. G.S. Haight, "Mrs. Sigourney," New Haven, 1930, p. 39-40. Most of the contributions to 1833, 1834, and 1835 are signed in initials. They are probably original, and seem to be by N.C. Brooks, W.G. Clark, H.F. Gould, L.H. Sigourney, Charles West Thomson, and others. Under Dr. Colton's editorship the list of contributors includes F.A.P. Barnard, Park Benjamin, Manton Eastburn, E.F. Ellet, W.B. Tappan, B.B. Thatcher, and H.T. Tuckerman. Mrs. Sigourney obtained work from Bernard Barton, S.J. Hale, Anne C. Lynch, R. Shelton Mackenzie, Amelia Opie, C.M. Sedgwick, Harriet Beecher Stowe -- even from her Hartford patron Daniel Wadsworth and her protégé Demetrius Stamatiades. Cf. G.S. Haight, "Mrs. Sigourney," New Haven, 1930, p. 39-40. Illustration was apparently made to order. Among the engravers are M.I. Danforth, G.B. Ellis, Alexander and Oscar Lawson, J.B. Longacre, J.B. Neagle, James Smilie, and W.E. Tucker. Some designs were especially commissioned (see Haight, op.cit., p. 39); artists include J.G. Chapman, C.R. Leslie, S.F.B. Morse, and W.S. Mount. Copyright: 1839; Printer: T.K. and P.G. Collins; Contents: Patroon/Rev. William B. Sprague/7; The Great and Good/Lydia Huntley Sigourney/18; The Transition/Rev. Hugh Smith/20; The Telescope; or, Reason and Faith/Mrs. S.J. Scenes in the Lives of the Patriarchs and Prophets.
Philadelphia, Pa: Lindsay & Blakiston. [c1847]

(CU, LC) Faxon lists first volume "1846, c1845" and notes an edition without date. Apparently selected prose and verse. Two poems in first volume are signed "Hawthorne," but there seems to be no reason for attributing them to Nathaniel Hawthorne. They are included in the Hawthorne bibliography by Nina E. Browne (Boston and New York, 1905). Copyright: 1847; Printer: C. Sherman; Contents: Proem--"Let There Be Light"/William H. Le Souvenir, or Picturesque Pocket Diary for 1826, with an Almanack, Ruled Pages for Memoranda, Literary Selections, and a Variety of Useful Information.
Philadelphia, Pa: A.R. Poole. [n.d.]
(AAS, NYPL) Letterpress probably not original; signatures are those of British writers. Plates are of American scenery, engraved by J.W. Steel and W.E. Tucker after Thomas Birch, Thomas Doughty, and W.G. Wall. While different from most other American gift books, as the full title shows, this may be called the first of the genus to appear. It is advertised in the "National Gazette and Literary Register" (Philadelphia) for December 3, 1825, as "just published"; "The Atlantic Souvenir" 1826 was not published until December 8, 1825. The "National Gazette and Literary Register" for November 25, 1826, notes that A.R. Poole had just issued a "Souvenir for 1827." This may be either a successor or a reissue. Three plates were especially engraved for 1837, seven for 1839, and six for 1840, at an average cost of $110 each. Expense of literary matter, exclusive of editing, was about $125 in each of first three years. Miss Leslie received $150 annually. With 1842, $50 covered both the editing and the contributions. Articles in first three volumes, probably original, are by Catherine E. Beecher, E.C. Embury, Caroline Gilman, H.F. Gould, Horatio E. Hale, S.J. Hale, Anne C. Lynch, L.H. Sigourney, Harriet Beecher Stowe, W.B. Tappan, S.H. Whitman, and others. Those in 1842 are apparently largely selections. Youth's Keepsake, a Christmas and New Year's Gift for Young People.
Boston, Mass: Carter & Hendee. 1830
(CU) Subtitle in third volume reads "A New Year, Christmas, and birthday present for both sexes." Apparently no issues dated 1832 or 1833. 1842 also New York, Samuel Colman, 1842 (NYPL). 1840 reissued as "The New Year's gift and juvenile souvenir," Boston, Otis, Broaders & co., 1841 (AAS). Preface to 1835 signed P.B. (Park Benjamin). The longest-lived of American gift books for children. Except for one poem by William Roscoe, 1830 is, according to preface, original and American. Authors include F.W.P. Greenwood, J.O. Sargent, C.M. Sedgwick, and N.P. Willis. In 1831 are two poems by O.W. Holmes, as well as work by L.M. Child, C.M. Sedgwick, L.H. Sigourney, and others. 1834 seems to consist principally of selections from British writers. 1835, according to preface, contains original contributions by S.J. Hale, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Eliza Leslie, F.S. Osgood, J.G. Whittier, and others. Thereafter, series is largely or wholly eclectic. 1837 includes seven articles from "The New Year's Gift and Juvenile Souvenir," London, 1836. Longfellow's "Childhood," in volume bound as 1845, is from "Graham's" for April 1844. First two volumes contain what are probably especially commissioned engravings by J. Andrews, John Cheney, Seth W. Cheney, E. Gallaudet, Oliver Pelton, and E.G. Perkins. Copyright: 1829; Printer: Waitt and Dow; Contents: The Torn Hat/N.P. Willis/9; Childhood of Jesus/F.W.P. The Youth's Sketch Book.
 Boston, Mass: Lilly, Wait, & Company. 1834 (AAS, NYPL) Reissued as "The Youth's sketch book for 1836," Philadelphia, Thomas T. Ash [n.d.] (NYPL); "The Youth's sketch book, being a selection of tales for children," Boston, Benjamin B. Mussey & co., 1849 (CU). Faxon notes editions of this last dated 1850. For children. May have been edited by John Pierpont, for on April 19, 1833, Lily, Wait & Company wrote to H.W. Longfellow (MS. letter now in the Cragie House, Cambridge) asking him to contribute to an annual to be edited by Pierpont under the title "Friendship's Gift." Perhaps the proposed title was changed before publication. Longfellow apparently refused the request -- if "The Youth's Sketch Book" is indeed the volume to which the publishers had reference -- as did other well-known writers except L.M. Child and S.J. Hale. Copyright: 1833; Contents: The Happy Grandmother/Mrs. Child/9; George and His Dog/23; Angels Near Us/27; The Lost Child/29; The Escape of the Doves/39; The Sailor Boy's Farewell/Mrs. Hale/42; The Mother and Child/44; The Brown Linnet/47; The Frolic/53; Foolish Fears/56; Grandmother's Pupils/62; Jane and Jumper/66; Nature's Lessons/72; A Puzzle/77; The May Flower/79; A Child's Thoughts at the End of the Year/81; The Tortoise-Shell Kitten/83; The Passage of the Red Sea/104; The Ocean/Mary Howitt/106; The Ivy-Leafed Crowfoot/114; Human Happiness/128; Home/Mrs. Hemans/131; The Boy and the Bird/134; The Stick of Sealing-Wax/139; Children of the Cottage/155; The Kaleidoscope/158; Forget Me Not/W.H.
