Introduction

Content and Organization of the Foreign Office Records

The British Foreign Office Records of General Political Correspondence for Japan, 1949–1951, in F.O. 371 is a collection of documents describing British foreign affairs concerning Japan. The microfilm edition of this collection, published by Scholarly Resources Inc., contains all of the volumes of the Japan Correspondence bound by the Public Record Office. These documents in the Japan Correspondence describe governmental, political, military, and economic affairs in postwar Japan as well as policies and events in Anglo-Japanese relations.

The correspondence concerning Japan consists primarily of communications between the Foreign Office and various British embassies and consulates in the Far East, usually in Japan. These records are the London files, containing material received from abroad or from London departments, and drafts of material originating in and sent out of London. In addition, the collection includes public proclamations by various national leaders, governments, and organizations; communications with foreign governments; pertinent publications; personal requests made of the Foreign Office by private citizens or groups; and records of questions asked by Members of Parliament directed to the Foreign Office. Many miscellaneous despatches and papers round out the body of annual correspondence.

Each document arriving at the Foreign Office was processed by the Opening Branch, which identified the origin and sender and the country to which the incoming paper pertained. The document was then sent to the appropriate division of the Archives Branch according to geographical region. Each division of the Archives Branch assigned its documents registry numbers from its own annual series. The Japan Correspondence was sent to the Far Eastern Department, which identified itself by preceding its registry numbers with the letter "F." After a document had been assigned a registry number, it was assigned a "kept with" or file number. The file number was usually the same as the registry number of the first document in the file. Files ran in length from one document (i.e., "kept with" itself) to many documents totaling hundreds of pages. After filing, the document was indexed according to the country that it concerned. (The index number for Japan is 23.) At the end of every year the files were bound together into volumes. Page numbers were assigned at this stage, with stamped pagination beginning at page 1 for each volume.

Scholarly Resources has published the bound volumes of Japan Correspondence, 1949–1951, on 39 reels of microfilm. The reels are numbered consecutively with each year beginning at Reel 1.

Format of the Scholarly Resources Guide to the Records

The Subject Guide to the Scholarly Resources edition of the British Foreign Office Records for Japan (F.O. 371) lists each file in the order in which it appears in the volumes, followed by a condensed description of its contents. Within larger files the descriptions are broken into separate entries for successive groups of documents. The registry number of only the first document in each subject group is listed in the second-from-left column, labeled DOCUMENT. The use of the term DOCUMENT is necessary to avoid confusion in the use of the terms "registry number" and "full registry number." Only the first registry (DOCUMENT) number of each subject group is listed, since listing the registry number for every document would prove cumbersome and would hamper document retrieval. The condensed subject descriptions facilitate retrieval as many documents in one area of a file often have identical subject titles. Semicolons separate different subjects within each subject group.

vi INTRODUCTION

The subject group has a new heading for every change in year, reel, or volume. This second heading identifies the number of each "kept with" or file (FILE), the columns for the reference registry number of the first document in each condensed subject group (DOCUMENT), the page number of the first document in each condensed subject group (PAGE), and the condensed subject descriptions (SUBJECT).

For a more detailed illustration of the use of the Guide, see Quick Reference Method (p. vii) for a brief description of how to find a document.

Quick Reference Method

The most rapid document retrieval method, using the Subject Guide, avoids any confusion of document, registry, or file numbers. Once the desired subject is located, the researcher checks the page number of the first document in that subject group. He now knows that the desired subject follows that page number and precedes the next page number in the list, and the heading supplies the proper year, reel, and volume. In the illustration below, if the researcher would like information on labor policy in Japan, he can proceed to Page 5 of Volume 76178 in Reel 1 of Year 1949. The researcher can also proceed to Page 117 of the same volume, and so on.

^{*}This sample docket and the explanation that follows are taken from British Foreign Office: Japan Correspondence, 1946-1948. The documents for 1949-1951 are similarly arranged.

Sample Docket (1946-1948)

- 1. Year. Written or stamped by the Opening Branch for all documents.
- 2. Department. Stamped by the Opening Branch, "F" designates the Far Eastern Department.
- 3. Country. The country to which the paper pertained was stamped by the appropriate division of the Archives Branch.
- 4. Page number. This number was stamped consecutively on every page of each document when files were bound into volumes at the end of each year. Pagination always begins anew with each volume. These numbers, for the reference documents in the Subject Guide, are listed under the PAGE heading.
- 5. Registry number and date of receipt. After each paper had been opened by the Opening Branch, it was placed in a docket sheet and sent to the appropriate division of the Archives Branch. There, the document was assigned a registry number, from the annual series of that division, that was stamped in the upper right corner with the date of receipt. The registry numbers from each departmental series were preceded by a code letter. The departmental designation for the Japan Correspondence is "F," which stands for "Far Eastern."

Note that in the Subject Guide the column containing the reference registry numbers has been labeled DOCUMENT to distinguish the number from the full registry number (see item 6 below).

- 6. Full registry number. Typed under the heading of "Registry Number," this number is, in fact, the full registry number, consisting of the registry number of the paper preceded by the departmental designation and followed by the file number and the index number. This number is very important because the file number appears here and nowhere else on the docket. The file numbers for reference documents in the Subject Guide are listed under the FILE heading.
- 7. Origin of the document and identification. This box and the "SUBJECT" box to its right (item 8 below) were typed from information from the appropriate section clerk, in four copies. The original was gummed to the docket sheet, with the copies going to the précis jacket, the Day Book, and the Chronological File, thus ensuring uniformity of cross-referencing information. Under the heading of "Registry Number" was typed the full registry number. Also typed are the author and place of origin, the number of the paper in the sender's local correspondence series, the date of the paper, the date of its receipt, and the departmental designation letter, followed by the name of the country to which the paper pertains. If the paper was a telegram, the words "Telegram From" appear below the registry number, and the docket is printed in red. Dockets normally were printed in black, with secret documents distinguished by a band of green stripes across the top. Parliamentary questions were handled by gumming a copy of the question to be asked, from the printed minutes, and stamped in the "Origin" box with "Parliamentary Question." The Foreign Office reply was taken from the printed report of the session and gummed either below the printed question on the docket or inside the docket on the continuation of the "Minutes" section.
- 8. Subject. This box is the other part of the typed paper gummed to the docket sheet. It consists of a brief title, below which is a concise but clear précis of the paper's contents.
- 9. Last Paper. The number of the previous document in the case or file. This number may refer to a document in the same case in a previous year, usually with a file number different from the number of this paper's file.

ix

SAMPLE DOCKET

- 10. References. This box lists papers in the file that are particularly relevant to this document. These papers can be located either before or after the docket sheet.
- 11. Minutes. These notations, which may run to several pages within the docket, include the initialed comments and instructions of those who read the documents contained in the docket. This area records the progress of the paper through the clerks and secretaries of the Foreign Office to, sometimes, the foreign minister himself.
- 12. Print. A notation in this box indicates an order for the paper to be printed in the CONFIDENTIAL PRINT Series of the Foreign Office.
- 13. How disposed of. This box contains notations of copies of the paper sent to other departments, missions, or embassies, usually as a result of instructions found in the "Minutes" section. Tick marks indicate that these actions were completed and entered in the General Register.
- 14. Action completed. This box contains the initials of the Sub-Registry clerk responsible for the paper, after he has checked that every direction given in the "Minutes" has been carried out.
- 15. Index. This box contains the initials of the clerk in the Main Index Branch who indexed the document.
- 16. Next Paper. When the next paper in the file came in, its registry number was entered in this box.
- 17. Target. Accompanying every text page photographed by the Public Record Office, this target includes the Record Class of General Correspondence for the Political Department (F.O. 371) followed by the number of the volume. The page numbers in the Subject Guide refer to this volume number.
