SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Rumors of horrors about concentration camps leaked out from Germany before the end of the war. Few people believed the stories at the time. But then came the ghastly facts of Nazi brutality, revealed by Allied liberating forces. Battle-hardened veterans, inured to the sight and smell of death, were sickened by what they saw. Staggering out to meet them were walking skeletons; their bodies stripped of flesh and their minds crippled by disease and starvation. General Dwight D. Eisenhower recorded that he had “never at any other time experienced an equal sense of shock.” He urged Washington and London to send observers to see the indisputable evidence.

Adolf Hitler became chancellor in 1933, and began building a system of concentration camps soon after. Hitler regarded concentration camps as a primary necessity for the survival of Nazism. He told the German public that society needed to be purged of “...softness and sentimental philistinism... We have no time for fine sentiments. I don’t want the concentration camps transferred into penitentiary institutions. Terror is the most effective instrument.” The first inmates were communists and Jews, followed shortly by democrats, Catholic and Protestant clergy and nuns, criminals, trade union members, pacifists, gypsies, and Jehovah’s Witnesses.

This collection provides unique documents from the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General’s Office on the investigation and prosecution of war crimes committed by Nazi concentration camp commandants and camp personnel.

Documents include: correspondence; trial records and transcripts; investigatory material, such as interrogation reports and trial exhibits; clemency petitions and reviews; photographs of atrocities; newspaper clippings; and pamphlets.

Documents on several concentration (and later extermination) camps and sub-camps are represented in this collection, including Mauthausen, Dachau, Belsen-Bergen, Buchenwald, Treblinka, Sobibor, etc.

U.S. Army Courts

From 1945 to 1948, U.S. Army Courts (military commissions and special or general military courts) tried 1672 individuals in 489 proceedings. Specific authority for these proceedings is found in Joint Chiefs of Staff Directive 1023/10 of July 8, 1945, which placed responsibility for certain war crimes trials in Germany on the Commander, USFET (United States Forces, European Theater). The Commander, in turn, empowered the commanding general of the Western Military District (territory occupied by the U.S. 3d Army (Bavaria)) to appoint military courts, predominantly at the site of the former concentration camp Dachau, for the trial of war criminals not heard at Nuernberg. This was done in a letter on the subject of "Trial of War Crimes and Related Cases" of July 16, 1945. The commanding general of the Eastern Military District (territory occupied by the U.S. 7th Army (Hesse, Baden-Wuerttemberg and Bremen)) was similarly authorized to commence war crimes trials, mainly at Ludwigsburg. In order to streamline operations, the Commander, USFET, revoked this division of authority in a letter of October 14, 1946, and assigned responsibility to prosecute war criminals to the Deputy Judge Advocate for War Crimes, USFET. Henceforth, all cases were tried at the site of the former concentration camp Dachau because centralization of war crimes appeared necessary in view of the large body of cases and investigations.

Records Description

Trial proceedings consists of a review and recommendation containing paragraphs for the following subjects: trial data and charges, summaries of evidence, personal information regarding the accused, evidence presented by prosecution and defense counsel, and petitions for clemency; the conclusions of the reviewer and the recommendation, either of an Army staff judge advocate or the Deputy Judge Advocate for War Crimes, complete the record.

The case files to which the reviews and recommendations pertain were filed and arranged by a two-number mail and records system employed by the European and Washington Offices of the War Crimes Branch, Office of the Judge Advocate General. The same system was used for the reviews and recommendations. The first number designates a country, and the second number identifies the case within the country. In Case 5-37, for example, the first number represents Austria, the country in which the crime was alleged to have been committed; and the second number identifies the case among the other Austrian cases tried or investigated between 1945 and 1948. All of the case files in this publication arranged by the WTO-number system have one of the following five country designations: 5 - Austria, 6 - Belgium, 8 - Czechoslovakia, 11 - France, or 12 - Germany.

Additional reviews and recommendations are arranged by one of two modified mail and records systems. One system consists of a sequence of numbers beginning with a triple zero, 000, followed by the number 50, 000-50. These two-number sequences indicate concentration camp cases. A third number in this sequence stands for a main camp case. Thus 000-50-2 is for the Dachau Concentration Camp Case, 000-50-5 is for the Mauthausen Case, 000-50-9 is for the Buchenwald Case, 000-50-37 is for the Nordhausen Case, 000-50-16 is for the Flossenburg Case, and 000-50-136 is for the Muehldorf Concentration Camp Case.

The subsequent proceedings to these main cases were designated either by adding a fourth number to the sequence such as 000-50-2-1, indicating the first subsequent proceeding to the Dachau main concentration camp case; or using a triple zero followed by the name of the main camp and the number of the subsequent proceeding, 000-Buchenwald-1. The apparent difference between these two methods of identifying subsequent concentration camp cases is that the charges under the first method were substantially the same as in the main case; whereas in the second method the accused were tried under additional charges.

Buchenwald

- [1] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–2: *U.S. vs. Wilhelm Hinderer, et. al.
Précis: On 11 April 1945, inmates left Camp Schönebeck, an outcamp of Buchenwald concentration camp, on an evacuation march, and proceeded in the direction of Oranienburg. There were six to seven hundred inmates on the march and the accused served as guards on the march. On about the 26 April 1945, when the column rested and some of the inmates were in a barn, the accused fired several pistol shots at an eggshell lying on the ground a short distance from the foundation wall of the barn. As a result of this pistol fire, an inmate, said to have been a Frenchman, was shot and killed.
- [2] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–4: *U.S. vs. Alfred Andreas Hoffmann.
Précis: In July and August 1944, the accused, an SS sergeant and detail leader at Buchenwald Concentration Camp, beat inmates with a club until they collapsed and then kicked them.
- [3] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–7: *U.S. vs. Heinz Blume.
Précis: On or about 16 April 1945, at the Czech town of Graslitz, while guarding a prisoner evacuation transport from KL Meuselwitz, the accused fired his pistol into a group of twenty to twenty– five prisoners. One shot hit the head of a Polish–Jewish victim resulting in his death. On or about 21 April, between Falkenau and Eilbogen in Czechoslovakia, during the said evacuation transport, the accused shot and killed four Russian prisoners who were improperly attempting to take food. In March or April 1945, at KL Meuselwitz, the accused beat a Polish female inmate with a rubber stick on her body and head because she had improperly taken a few potatoes.
- [4] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–13: *U.S. vs. Alfons Kunikowski.
Précis: The accused was a criminal inmate in Camp Laura, subcamp of Buchenwald concentration camp, from October 1943–April 1945 and held the position of camp eldest there from November 1943–August 1944. Between January and April 1944, he subjected non-German nationals, inmates of the camp, to mistreatments in the form of beatings.

[5] Case No. 000-Buchenwald-7: *U.S. vs. Heinz Blume.

[6] Case No. 000-Buchenwald-14 (1): *U.S. vs. Max Paul Emil Vogel.

Précis: In March 1945, the accused, an SS Technical Sergeant at Bochum, a subcamp of Buchenwald Concentration Camp, beat a Latvian inmate with a wooden stick until he fell bleeding to the ground. The victim died two weeks later.

[7] Case No. 000-Buchenwald-17: *U.S. vs. Adam Ankenbrand.

Précis: The accused, an SS technical sergeant, was in charge of the guard details at Camp Schlieben, a subcamp of Buchenwald concentration camp. The inmates of subcamp Schlieben worked in a nearby factory which manufactured antitank rockets. One night in the month of September 1944 an explosion occurred in the factory. The inmates of the subcamp were ordered by the guards to assemble in an adjoining field. While the inmates were lying in the ground, the accused deliberately shot and wounded one of them. Upon the latter's outcry, the accused shot and killed another inmate lying close by.

[8] Case No. 000-Buchenwald-20: *U.S. vs. Friedrich Demmer.

Précis: In or about December 1944, the accused and one Weich assaulted a Russian inmate, one Peter Kowalow, who had escaped and was apprehended. The victim is said to have died some time later as a result of threat mistreatment. In or about June 1944, the accused assaulted inmates of Polish, Russian and French nationalities.

[9] Case No. 000-Buchenwald-23: *U.S. vs. Johann Singer.

Précis: One witness testified that after the inmate evacuation from Buchenwald concentration camp, the inmates marched in a column to Flossenburg; that the column then marched from Flossenburg in the direction of Munich-Dachau; that after they left Flossenburg, the accused shot an inmate who wanted to pick up some grass; and that two or three days later someone threw a piece of bread to the column and one of the inmates wanted to pick it up and thereupon the accused shot him.

- [10] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–14 (2): *U.S. vs. Max Paul Emil Vogel.
Précis: In March 1945, the accused, an SS Technical Sergeant at Bochum, a subcamp of Buchenwald Concentration Camp, beat a Latvian inmate with a wooden stick until he fell bleeding to the ground. The victim died two weeks later.
- [11] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–25: *U.S. vs. August Giese.
Précis: The accused was an SS sergeant and work detail leader at Camp Laura, a subcamp of Buchenwald concentration camp. In February and March 1945, he beat and otherwise mistreated non–German nationals, inmates of this subcamp.
- [12] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–31: *U.S. vs. Ludwig Fischer.
Précis: One witness testified that the accused was a block leader in the Nordlager, a part of Ohrdruf, a subcamp of Buchenwald concentration camp; and that in September 1944, the accused struck one French and one Polish inmate with a shovel handle, causing their deaths.
- [13] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–36: *U.S. vs. Klaus Ferdinand Huels.
Précis: A Polish witness testified that the accused beat two inmates with a pistol on the face and head and then with a stick, as a result of which they died and were carried back to camp and put on a pile of dead bodies.

Buchenwald cont.

- [14] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–37: *U.S. vs. Heinrich Zwickl.
Précis: An evacuation march started from Buchenwald concentration camp, near Weimer, Germany, in March 1945, supposedly for Flossenburg, but never arrived there. It continued until liberated by the Americans at Liebenau, Upper Bavaria, on 5 May 1945. The accused was a guard on this evacuation march of approximately 1600 inmates.
- [15] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–40: *U.S. vs. Adolf Wuttke.
Précis: The accused was an SS sergeant of a guard company in Buchenwald concentration camp. In the middle of June 1944, he beat an inmate of the camp with a weighted rubber hose causing severe injuries, as a result of which the victim was incapacitated for a period of about 8 days.
- [16] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–41 (1): *U.S. vs. Josef Schramm.
Précis: It was announced that an early roll call would be had on the morning of 5 April 1945. One shot was fired after quite a number of inmates appeared at the roll call on the morning of 5 April 1945. One of the alleged victims, a Czech Jew, was seen lying on the ground between blocks 49 and 50. The accused and another block leader were present. The accused was fingering his pistol holster and it was assumed that he had just replaced the pistol into the holster.

[17] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–41 (2): *U.S. vs. Josef Schramm.

[18] Case No. 000–Buchenwald–49: *U.S. vs. Ferdinand Lemke.

Précis: The accused and another SS man was seen shooting in the direction where inmates were resting. As a result two or three inmates were killed. The accused gave a "mercy shot" to one of them.

Flossenburg

[19] Case No. 000–Flossenburg–16: *U.S. vs. Friedrich Christian Lutz.

Précis: Two witnesses testified that the accused was an SS noncommissioned officer in charge of an evacuation march of 200 Flossenburg concentration camp inmates from Schwarzenfeld, Germany, toward Dachau, Germany, between 18 April and 22 April 1945. One of these witnesses testified that during the march, the accused shot to death three Polish inmates. Many other inmates were shot to death on the march on orders of the accused.

[20] Case No. 000–Flossenburg–18: *U.S. vs. Eugen Ziehmer.

Précis: The accused was an inmate of Flossenburg concentration camp from May 1938 until April 1945. In September 1941, after a Polish inmate had escaped from the camp, the remaining Polish inmates were forced to stand on the roll call square for three days and three nights without any food in the so-called "Polish Action". During this period the accused participated in the beatings and mistreatment of the Polish inmates.
