BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

James Dombrowski was born in Tampa, Florida in 1897. After serving in France in World War I, he attended Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, where he graduated in 1923. At Emory, Dombrowski organized the Alumni Association, served as its executive secretary, and edited the Emory Alumnus. He graduated from Union Theological Seminary in New York with a bachelor of divinity degree and received a Ph.D. in philosophy at Columbia University. Dombrowski's doctoral dissertation, The Early Days of Christian Socialism in America, was published by Columbia University Press in 1940. He did graduate work at the University of California and Harvard, was a Rosenwald Fellow and Kent Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education, and taught Christian ethics at Union.

During his education, Dombrowski became active in social causes. He went to Elizabethton, Tennessee, and Gastonia, North Carolina, during textile strikes and was jailed as a suspect and later released in the killing of the Gastonia chief of police. From 1934 to 1941, Dombrowski served as staff director of the Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, Tennessee, and then joined the staff of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) as executive secretary. When this organization went out of existence after World War II, Dombrowski and others continued its educational wing, the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF). During his tenure as executive director, he was active in the struggle against segregation and helped hold the organization together through the McCarthy era. Troubled by painful arthritis, Dombrowski hoped to retire in 1963, but in that year the New Orleans offices of SCEF were raided by state and local police and the organization's records were confiscated. Dombrowski and other SCEF officials were charged with violating Louisiana's anti-subversive law. Dombrowski and SCEF filed suit on the grounds that their first amendment rights had been violated. After several years of litigation the organization's files were released by court order in April, 1965. Dombrowski and SCEF won a legal victory in 1968 when the Supreme Court struck down large sections of the Louisiana law.

Dombrowski retired as SCEF executive director early in 1966 and was replaced by Carl and Anne Braden. He remained active in SCEF, however, in the post of special consultant. After his retirement, Dombrowski pursued his love of art. He attended the John McCrady Art School and produced paintings, drawings, and posters. His work, which reflected his interests in social causes, was exhibited at the University of New Orleans in 1976. From 1974 to 1978, Dombrowski held annual distributions of his artwork at which friends were invited to choose a Dombrowski piece to display in their homes for one year. James A. Dombrowski died in April 1983.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This microfilm publication, James A. Dombrowski and the Southern Conference Educational Fund, is Series 3 of the Primary Source Media series Civil Rights and Social Activism in the South. This current microfilm edition is comprised of the papers of James A. Dombrowski, 1918-1983 (Mss 566) at the Wisconsin Historical Society. This collection consists of four series: Biographical Information, Correspondence, Subject Files, and The Frank Adams Files.

The Biographical Information series contains a small number of clippings concerning high points in Dombrowski's life and career with the SCEF. Also included are clippings and a program from a memorial service in his honor. (See reel 1, folder 1.)

Correspondence consists of personal letters to friends and associates such as Virginia Durr and Aubrey Williams following Dombrowski's retirement in 1966. Included are letters from Carl and Anne Braden about SCEF activities and arrangements for his retirement pay. Dombrowski continued to assist SCEF with fundraising, and this activity is also documented here. This series can be found on reels 2-8, folders 2-42.

The Subject Files primarily reflect Dombrowski's private life and interests. (folders 43-156, reels 8-12) They include records of his art distributions, papers pertaining to Emory University and articles, as well as some documentation of his years with SCEF and SCHW. Also here are memorials to friends and speeches and writings by Dombrowski. The Frank Adams file contains correspondence from Adams regarding his attempts to find a publisher for the Dombrowski biography.

The Frank Adams Files contain materials collected by Adams while writing his biography of Dombrowski in the late 1970s. (folders 157-206, reels 12-17.). The files are divided into two subseries: Correspondence and Subject Files. In the Correspondence are letters written by Dombrowski to Ethyl Clyde, a major financial supporter of SCHW and SCEF, describing his activities with these organizations from 1937 to 1976. (See reel 13, folders 159-163.) Also included are Adams' correspondence with Dombrowski and his associates seeking material for his biography; these letters are a rich source of biographical information. Adams' Subject Files include Dombrowski's notes and diaries, 1937-1977 (folders 175-177, 179 on reel 15), and assorted articles and speeches. Although the notes are fragmentary, the development of his writings and speeches can be seen. Also included is some documentation of Dombrowski's SCHW and SCEF years, especially the dissolution of SCHW in 1948 and the 1963 raid. The court files contain records of the cases Dombrowski was involved in following the raid. Also included in the Subject Files are some materials on the Highlander Folk School (folders 187-190 on reels 14-15), including lecture notes for Dombrowski's course in labor economics. (folder 188 on reel 16)

SOURCE AND EDITORIAL NOTE

This material was microfilmed from the holdings of the Wisconsin Historical Society in Madison, Wisconsin. The front matter for this index was created using the WHS original finding aid.

Most of the collection came directly to the Wisconsin Historical Society from Dombrowski in 1979 and was processed in 1981 by Robert Burk. Additional materials were received from Frank Adams in 1986, and a small amount of Dombrowski's personal files came to WHS from the University of New Orleans in 1990. These additions were integrated into the collection in 1990 and processed by Debra Shapiro.

The materials have been filmed as they are arranged at the Wisconsin Historical Society. Primary Source Media has renumbered all of the folders into a consecutive numbering system.

Due to privacy concerns, medical records, passports, house records, and like materials were excluded from publication; and every attempt was made to mask personal account numbers. The following folders were not filmed:

Folder [92]	House, 1947-1979
Folder [102]	Medical Papers — Aslan, Dr. Anna, 1955-1965
Folder [103]	Medical Papers — Mayo Clinic, 1973-1974

SUBJECT AND PRINCIPAL CORRESPONDENT INDEX

The following index is a guide to major subjects found in this microfilm publication. The first number after each entry refers to the reel, while the number following the colon refers to a numbered folder on that reel. Hence 5:29 directs the researcher to the folder numbered 29 on reel 5. Each folder is located on the reel in numerical order and introduced with a title page. These subjects will not necessarily be found at the beginning of the designated folder, but will be located within it. This subject index is best used in conjunction with the reel index, which lists not only folder numbers, but folder titles as well.
