Introduction to the Collection

The Freedom Civic Association, also known as the Societa Gildonese of Cleveland, Ohio, was founded on May 15, 1917. Guiseppe Perrotti and others established the society for the benefit of their fellow immigrants from Gildone, Italy. Incorporated by the state of Ohio in August 1917, the society was organized as a fraternal, social, and patriotic association. The organization offered the Gildone immigrants health and death benefits, taught them English, and helped with employment. Originally centered at Alta House in “Little Italy,” the organization later moved to Collinwood as the Italian American community moved out and acculturated. The society met regularly at the Allegro Club until it disbanded in 1992.

The Freedom Civic Association Records, 1917-1992 are arranged alphabetically by document type and then chronologically. The collection consists primarily of bound ledger books that record membership lists, minutes, financial information, and secretary’s books. The remainder is loose materials consisting of bylaws and constitutions, correspondence, membership lists, and financial information.

This collection is of value not only to researchers studying the history of early-twentieth-century Italian immigration to the United States and to Cleveland but also to those studying social services and “Americanization” programs provided by immigrant benevolent and fraternal societies, as well as to researchers interested in Cleveland’s, Italian-American community. Membership, death, and cemetery lists are useful for genealogical purposes.

All photographs have been removed to the print and photograph collection.
