PUBLISHER'S NOTE

Harvester Microform are proud to present this first collection documenting the career of one of the world's finest actors, David Garrick.

This first part comprises over 2000 letters from John Forster's collection at the National Art Library in the Victoria and Albert Museum. Part Two will present the Garrick papers from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington D.C.

David Garrick was indisputably the best known actor of his day, and a major celebrity who corresponded with a huge number of people from all walks of life, while pursuing his own career performing all the great dramatic roles, writing a number of farces and managing the Theatre Royal Drury Lane with James Lacy from 1747.

A large proportion of the letters here are to actors, writers or managers, and many to aspiring writers, which show Garrick's genuine interest in and concern for the theatre at all levels, as in this example, where he takes pains to criticise the work of an enthusiastic amateur authoress:

I said that the Comedy wanted interest, but not of ye Passions - I meant a Comic interest, resulting from ye various humours of the Characters thrown into spirited action and brought into interesting situations naturally arising from a well-constructed fable or Plot. This, with good Moral deduc'd from ye whole, is all I wish or look for in Comedy.

The letters also chronicle arguments and discussions with many actors from Garrick's Company, among them Spranger Barry, Arthur Murphy and Charles Macklin, and with fellow writers George Colman, R.B. Sheridan and Hannah More.

Correspondents also number statesmen, artists, military leaders and churchmen, as Garrick attracted not only comment on his performances, but discourse on artistic subjects with many well known figures of the day, including Voltaire, Sir Isaac Newton, Gainsborough, Thomas Arne, Hogarth, William Cowper, Edmund Burke and the King of Denmark.

Existing Bibliographical Aids

There are two printed catalogues to the autograph correspondence in the Forster Collection

- Handbook of the Dyce and Forster Collections
(London, 1880)
- A Catalogue of the Paintings, Manuscripts,
Autograph Letters, Pamphlets etc., bequeathed
by John Forster (London 1893)

The catalogues give only one entry under 'Garrick' to all 2000 letters, but it does provide an index of correspondents. Both these volumes are out of print, but they are reproduced in full on reels two and three of the Forster and Dyce Collections Part One.

The Nature of this Guide

This catalogue offers a thorough, new listing of every letter within the collection. The volumes follow a chronological sequence for each correspondent, and for the main sequence of volumes, printed transcripts of many letters are bound at the end of the volume. These are fully cross-referenced in this guide, see 'Key to Detailed Entries'.

Acknowledgements

Research Publications would like to thank the National Art Library for their permission to make available these unique archives. Special thanks are due to Dr Rowan Watson and his staff for their time and assistance in the preparation of this programme.

KEY TO THE DETAILED LISTING OF CORRESPONDENCE

The structure of a typical entry is as follows:

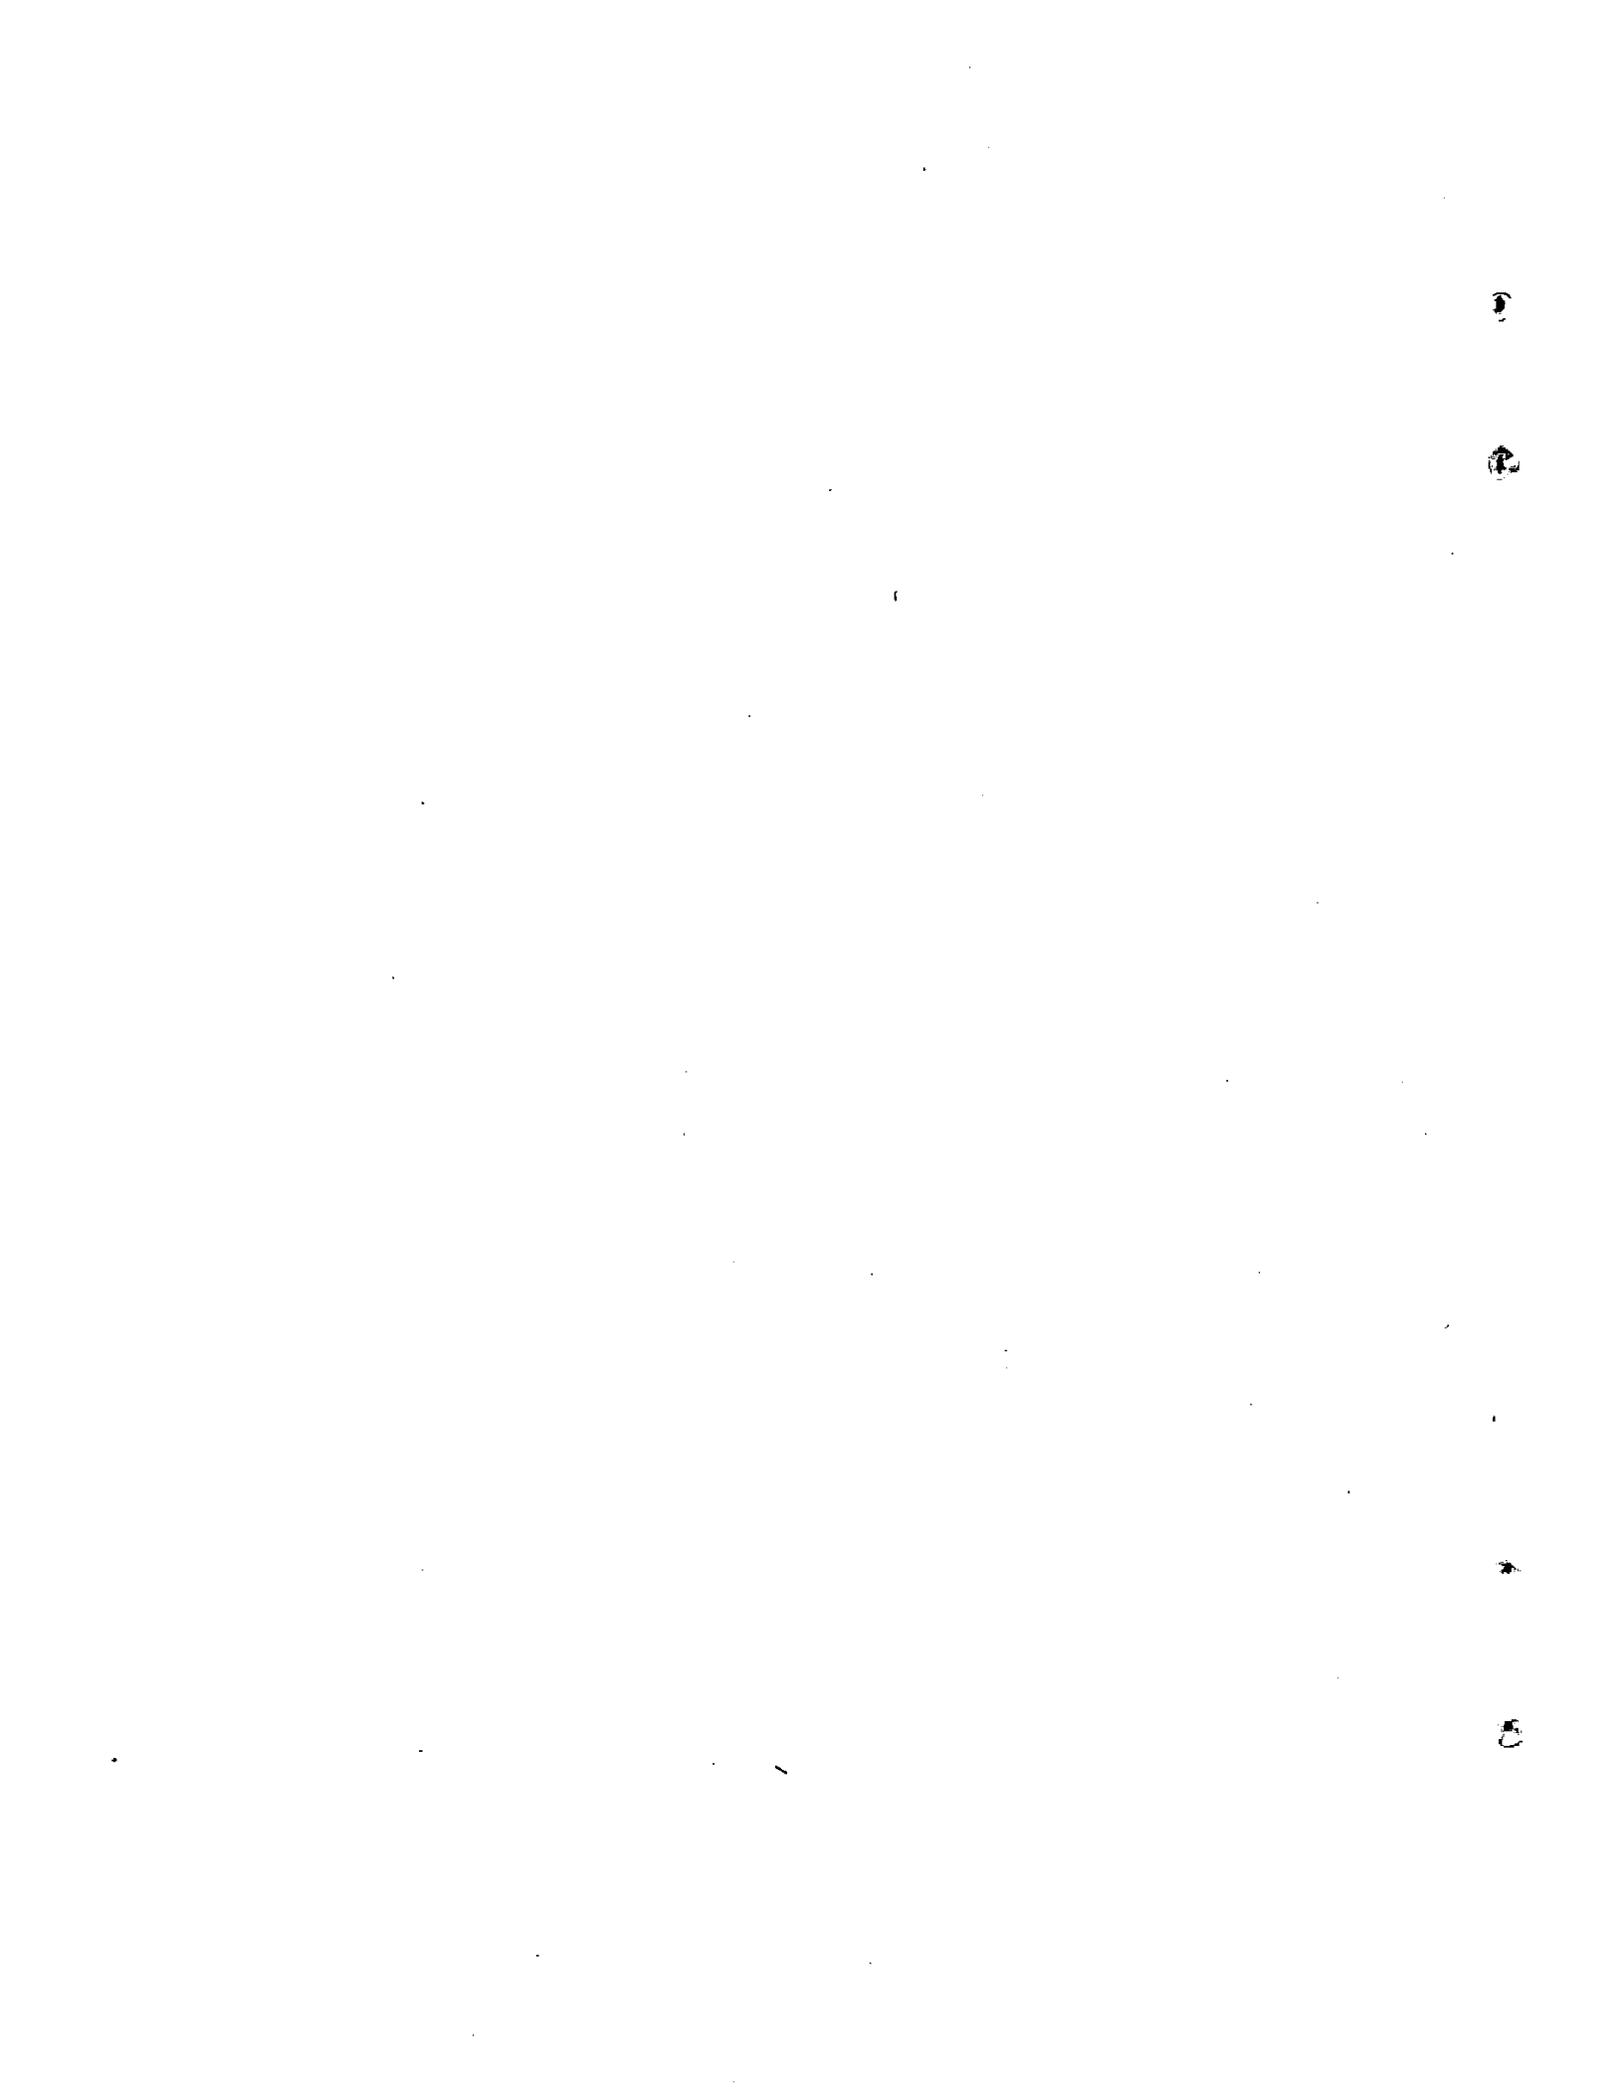

Library Press Mark

Item No.	From	To	Place	Date
2 (138)	Hannah More	David Garrick	Bristol	10 Jun. 1776

The item numbers refer to the order of manuscript letters as bound, and appear on the film in the top right hand corner of each frame. The number in brackets refers to the folio number at which a printed transcript of the letter is to be found. These transcripts are bound at the back of each volume, and letters are filmed in bound order. Where no transcript exists, a dash replaces the bracketed number.

The correspondent and receiver of the letter are next given. Where long sequences of correspondence from or to one person are involved, the full name is replaced by initials only, but full names are given at the head of each new page.

The place and date of writing are given as they appear on the letter. If information has been inferred from another source, eg. a postmark, watermark or internal evidence, then this information is given in square brackets.
