

Publishers Directory

Now online on Gale Directory Library

Available Nov. 07

Publishers Directory is your one-stop resource for exhaustive coverage of approximately 30,000 U.S. and Canadian publishers, distributors and wholesalers. Organizations profiled in Publishers Directory represent a broad spectrum of interests, including major publishing companies; small presses (in the traditional, literary sense); groups promoting special interests from ethnic heritage to alternative medical treatments; museums and societies in the arts, science, technology, history and genealogy; divisions within universities that issue special publications in such fields as business, literature and climate studies; religious institutions; corporations that produce important publications related to their areas of specialization; government agencies; and electronic and database publishers.

Comprehensive, fully updated and detailed entries feature full contact information, including name, address, phone, fax, Web site URL, and e-mail; basic information about the publisher, including sales, number of employees, date founded, affiliates, mergers, number of new titles, total titles, description of activities, ISBNs and other useful data; subjects of concentration, listings of key officers and personnel, special services, subdivisions and branch offices; and much more. Data is thoroughly indexed by name, subject, geographic location and imprints, making it easy to target specific types of entries.

Real-world applications might include:

- General readers looking for contact information on small presses who specialize in publications on literature can easily create a sortable list of publishers and contact information
- Authors targeting publishers in specific fields (such as science, arts or medicine) or in particular geographic locations can identify key personnel to contact and check for local branch offices
- Teachers looking for publications that focus on a specific topic can compile a list of publishers who have a concentration in the field
- Professionals interested in specialized business data can identify corporate publishers and generate a list of contact information by location
- And many others
